PHIL TING

knows it's time to Reset San Francisco starting with...

MUNI

I magine a Muni that actually works. It can happen—if we take charge and demand the changes needed to make our buses and streetcars run reliably and more frequently.

Phil Ting understands that our city government can be as creative and innovative as the rest of San Francisco. That's why as a candidate for mayor Phil Ting launched Reset San Francisco — to give everyone a greater voice in making our government work.

Muni is the slowest transit system in America, and it is one of the least reliable. But there are solutions: simple things like putting bus stops after stop signs so we don't have to stop twice, proven technologies like timing lights and clear priorities — like keeping City Hall from diverting money away that we approved for improving Muni.

Join us as we work to Reset San Francisco — starting with resetting the 38 Geary, the 1 California, the N Judah and all of the lines that make up our Municipal Railway.

See how it is already working at www.ResetSanFrancisco.org. There are solutions out there — and we need to make sure City Hall is listening.

PHIL TING BRINGS TOGETHER THE HARD-WON EXPERIENCE OF

TURNING AROUND one of the city's worst agencies, a background as a business consultant helping companies embrace reform and the management experience of leading one of the city's most successful non-profit organizations. He's helped create jobs as Co-Chair of ChinaSF by bringing new companies to San Francisco, promote our economy and environment with GoSolarSF and generate over $300 million in new revenue by improving efficiency — without raising taxes. He currently lives in the Sunset District with his wife and two young daughters and is a frequent N Judah rider.
